Subject: Plantation Estates Incident Updates

As your Vice President of Security in Plantation Estates, I would like to wish each of you a Happy, Healthy and Prosperous New Year.

Over this past year we have had a couple of incidents that have occurred in PE that I thought you may be interested in knowing the status of the investigations. We had several vehicles that were burglarized in the neighborhood after being left unlocked. This was a problem that occurred primarily on the Westbank during certain time periods in 2009. In most of the incidents the circumstances were the same; vehicles that were left unlocked and the valuables taken from within. The JPSO has made numerous arrests charging suspects with multiple counts of vehicle burglary in many of the incidents. No one has been arrested thus far or has confessed to being involved in the incidents here in PE.

We did have a residence burglary where the suspect's vehicle was seen by a witness who provided the JPSO with the identification of the type of vehicle used along with the license information. The registered owner of the vehicle in question claims his son was in possession of his vehicle at the time of the offense; however, he professed no responsibility or knowledge of the incidents and further told investigators that he no longer knows where his son could be located, perhaps indicating that he was "living on the streets". Burglary Detectives are searching for this young man who is currently wanted for questioning in this matter.

During the Christmas holidays we had two incidents of Simple Criminal Damage to property after someone drove onto an empty lot on Oak Alley and also on Asphodel. In this investigation, one of our residents provided the JPSO with video depicting a pick-up truck traveling West on Oak Alley Blvd. and going out of view. The vehicle was not actually seen in the lot causing the damage, however it was picked up on a subsequent camera turning onto a nearby street and additional camera view of this same pick-up turning into the a driveway of a home only a block away. JPSO investigators were provided the video along with information gathered on the suspect vehicle by one of our security patrol officers. Upon contacting the suspect believed to be the driver of the pick-up, he admitted to committing the offense on Oak Alley, but denied knowledge of the incident on Asphodel. He also offered to make restitution for the damage he caused. Coincidentally, he had no prior run-ins with the police before this incident. This individual will be issued a misdemeanor summons for the offense. Additional updates will be provided when available.
